HOW TO PLANT AND CARE FOR ROSES

Roses need sunshine, but it is not necessary that they be exposed to the sun all day; half a day of sunshine is sufficient, either morning or afternoon.

To prepare the beds remove one spade-depth of soil and pile it on one side. This is "topsoil". Then remove a second spade-depth and pile it on the other side. This is "subsoil", to be taken away. This makes a trench 18 inches deep. Rose roots seldom go deeper. Loosen the bottom of the trench with a spading fork. Refill the trench with the topsoil, mixing it with a liberal amount of well-rotted manure, then finish the bed with a good garden soil. (See sketches on page 23.)

When planting roses, always carry the plants in a bucket of water. Prune the roots by shortening the long ones and making fresh cuts at the ends of the others. Dig a hole deep and wide enough to accommodate the roots, and refill the hole a little at a time, always packing the soil hard on the roots. When the hole is three-quarters full, pound the soil with your heels and all your weight, then pour in plenty of water. When the water has disappeared, put soil in to the normal level, but do not pack any more. Prune the tops of the plants at about 6 to 8 inches above soil-level. This is very important if you desire to have a low compact bush that will produce large flowers.

WINTER PROTECTION

In cold climates roses need some extra protection over the winter. The earth should be mounded up around each plant just before the ground freezes. The intervening spaces can be filled with stable manure if it is available. After the ground freezes, an additional covering of leaves and evergreen boughs prevents exposure to wind and sun.

Watering. Roses like plenty of water. Flood the beds once a week by placing the hose on the bed and letting it run slowly so that water may reach deep to the roots. Avoid wetting the foliage, especially in the evening.

Spent blooms should be removed, cutting the stem above the first complete set of five leaves. If long-stemmed blooms are desired for cutting, remove old flowers so that two sets of leaves remain on the stalk. The next blooms will spring from these eyes.

Fertilizers. In the early spring, mulch rose beds with either old cow manure, peat moss, or lawn clippings. Feed each plant a half teacup full of well-balanced commercial fertilizer every two months during the growing season.

Cultivate frequently around the roses. Do not allow the soil to bake and become hard at any time. Remember the roots breathe, and cultivation permits the air to reach the roots. Without cultivation plants will remain at a standstill.

Foliage trouble is caused by atmospheric conditions, some years being more favorable than others, and an occasional dusting with a mixture of nine parts of dusting sulphur to one part of arsenate of lead will act as a preventative. For aphids, a spraying with nicotine or pyrethrum, following instructions on the bottle, will control these.

A ROSE FANCIER'S CALENDAR

JANUARY

This is a good month for dormant spray. When we have a few dry days get busy, first pick up and dispose of old leaves from the ground and remove any foliage which persists on the canes. Such leaves are an important source of disease infection. Spray bushes thoroughly with commercial LIQUID lime-sulfur at rate of ONE gallon to EIGHT gallons of water.

FEBRUARY

If bushes have not been given a dormant spray in January they MUST be sprayed the forepart of this month or else spray injury to the new shoots will result. If the buds have started growing before the bushes can be sprayed, decrease the strength of the LIQUID lime-sulfur, using ONE gallon to TEN or TWELVE gallons of water. Around the 15th of the month apply from FOUR to SIX inches of cow manure to the beds.

MARCH

Weather regulates your pruning during this month; it is always safe to prune from the middle of this month to the latter part so that a late frost will not kill premature growth. Spraying or dusting for the control of diseases and insect pests should begin as the first leaves unfold, which will generally take place the latter part of March.

APRIL

It is well to spray or dust the bushes regularly every TEN days. During the latter part of the month, an application of complete chemical fertilizer, 4-12-4 formula, at rate of about TWO pounds per 100 square feet. Water in.

MAY

Spray or dust at regular TEN day intervals. Apply complete fertilizer 4-12-4 formula, at weekly to 15 day intervals at rate of TWO pounds per 100 square feet, water in. It is well to give the beds a good watering every week. Hybrid Teas can be budded at TWO-THREE-day intervals, leaving only the terminal bud on a shoot.

JUNE

Spray or dust at regular TEN-day intervals. Water beds well at weekly intervals. A mulch of some sort should be applied to the soil during this month if cow manure has not been previously applied to hold moisture.

JULY

Spray or dust at regular TEN-day intervals. DO NOT spray or dust when temperature is above 85 degrees. Water beds at weekly intervals. DO NOT FERTILIZE. During latter part of month cut back some of the more "stocky" canes about SIX inches to stimulate new growth for the fall blooms.

AUGUST

Spray or dust at regular TEN-day intervals. Water, SOAK beds at weekly intervals. DO NOT apply any fertilizer on the bushes during this month or root injury may result.

SEPTEMBER

Spray or dust at FIVE- to SEVEN-day intervals to prevent mildew from getting a start and ruining your fall blooms. Water, SOAK beds at TWO-week intervals if rainfall for the month is below normal. Apply complete chemical fertilizer at weekly intervals.

OCTOBER

Spray or dust at TWO-week intervals, thereby making disease easier to control the following season. No water or fertilizer is needed this month.

NOVEMBER

It is advisable to give your bushes a preliminary pruning or "topping" to minimize possible root damage during high winds and early frost. New roses may be planted this month.

DECEMBER

New roses may be planted from the latter part of November up until May 1st. A winter spray of lime and sulphur may be given if dry weather prevails.

Our Selection of ROSES FOR YOUR GARDEN

General List of OREGON-GROWN NON-PATENTED HYBRID TEAS

In this section are listed the best of the most popular roses introduced before the U.S. plant patent law went into effect. This is the reason why these roses are not patented. In performance, they are not inferior to the patented varieties—some of them, like Christopher Stone and President Hoover, are so first rate that a rose garden without them would be unthinkable.

AMI QUINARD A vigorous profuse-flowering plant, with long pointed blackish-garnet buds, opening to loose, semi double blooms which are so dark they seem almost black.

AUTUMN—Burnt orange, russet and bronzy red underlaid with yellow, the coloring is as lovely as it is unusual. Vigorous, upright, heavy dark green glossy leaves. This rose has made a great reputation for itself and ranks as one of the most popular of all roses. 3½-4 ft.

BETTY UPRICHARD Large fragrant blooms; salmon pink with carmine reverse showing a distinct coppery sheen. The tall upright plants produce a great profusion of blooms.
